After you are successful in asking someone out for a date, you want to plan your date to make sure you have a great time and show how much you're interested. But you also don't want to look like you're trying too hard or investing a lot in something that may not work out. According to some studies, here are some tips for your first date.

First, you had better choose the right location such as a nice restaurant where you can have a great dinner. During the mealtime, you may know what kind of food she likes or doesn't like. Choosing to go to a movie is also a good idea because both of you can share your opinions about the movie. Taking a walk around a quiet park may give you more time to know each other.

Second, giving him or her a good impression can possibly make you have the second date. If you put on a casual wear or a pair of slippers, he or she may think that you don't care about the date. Remember the date time and do not be late. Try not to talk loudly or in a hurry. Being patient and considerate during your date probably helps you get another chance.

Third, respect each other and do not ask the questions that he or she doesn't want to talk about. Everyone has his or her privacy. You can show you are interested in what he or she says, but do not be too curious about what he or she wants to ignore on purpose.

If you follow the tips above, perhaps you will have a major opportunity to continue your dates. Good luck!
