V. 閱讀測驗： 10%

From humble beginnings, a female vegetable vendor named Chen Shu-chu has become well-known to the world. In 2010, Chen received the honor of being selected as one of TIME 100 in the Heroes category for her selfless generosity (慷慨).

At first sight, Chen Shu-chu may not seem to be a likely hero. She was born into a poor family in Yunlin in 1951. Her family's difficult situation forced her to leave school and start to work at an early age. Being a vegetable vendor for decades, she has donated more than ten million NT dollars to charity. Moreover, she was planning to establish a foundation to help the poor with food, education, and health care. Nevertheless, she still leads a very simple life. Just like what she said, "Money serves its purpose only when it is used for those who need it."

Chen's devotion to helping the less fortunate has benefited many people. However, perhaps the greatest gift she gives is the example she sets. Her story truly has inspired the public to do good deeds to help those in need.

41. The passage is mainly about _____.
- (A) why Chen Shu-chu was chosen to be one of TIME 100
(B) how Chen Shu-chu managed to save a lot of money
(C) whom Chen Shu-chu has helped during her lifetime
(D) what Chen Shu-chu has done after she received the honor
42. What is the major reason that makes Chen Shu-chu world-famous?
- (A) Her simple lifestyle. (B) Her fresh vegetables.
(C) Her poor family. (D) Her selfless generosity.
43. According to the passage, Chen Shu-chu may seem like a(n) _____ at first sight.
- (A) real hero (B) ordinary person (C) healthy person (D) rich businesswoman
44. The word "deeds" in the third paragraph is closest in meaning to "_____."
- (A) lives (B) acts (C) results (D) effects
45. According to the passage which of the following about Chen Shu-chu is NOT true?
- (A) She was born into a poor family in Yunlin. (B) She works as a vegetable vendor.
(C) She returned to school after she grew up. (D) She dropped out of school at an early age.
